I. 目標(The goal of this class)

Eikaiwa English is a course designed to cultivate and encourage English Expression. This course is focused primarily on communication skills that enhance the students' ability to speak, listen and engage in English in a more natural manner.

Throughout the year, students will practice dialogues, speeches, performances and activities that will grant them more confidence when speaking with others.

II. 授業のねらい(Things to keep in mind)

As stated previously, the goal of the class is to allow students of all levels to express themselves as uniquely as possible. Allowing them to make mistakes and to integrate topics that they are interested in is very important.

III. 授業の進め方(How the class is proceeded, the overall process)

Classes generally follow a formula of the "Three P's". They are as follows: Present, Practice and Perform. This method covers every skill necessary to improve the students English ability. To be more specific, Present is introducing a topic (project, grammar point, role play, etc) that is relevant to the students' interest. Practice the target language or exercise. Then have them Present it to the class and assess whether the student understood the material.

IV. 学習上の留意点(Points to Remember)

Explanations should be clear yet allow opportunity for the students to reach the end of their project in their own way. Lectures and "Teacher Talk Time" should be as limited as possible to allow students more chances to use English communication.

V. 定期試験(Tests: Midterm & Final Exams)

Tests are almost always speaking oriented, though there are written components. Speeches, performances and Presentations make up the Midterms and Finals.

VI. 評価の方法 (Basis of Evaluating academic standing, tests, assignments)

Grading will be done primarily by the primary teacher based on criteria that they set. The assistant teacher will be called upon to provide feedback and assessment in some situations such as participation and attendance. Final grades will be discussed and finalized by both the primary and assistant instructors.
